HS Journalists Gather For Two-Day Conference

About thirty journalists gathered yesterday and this morning for the High School Journalism Conference here.

Registration began yesterday morning at 9 a.m. and followed with guided tours of the campus. A welcome from Prec. C. H. Becker, which stressed the importance of communication in the world today, both locally and nationally, followed.

Stewart Haas of the Waterloo Courier gave an illustrated lecture on "Headline Writing and Make-up" to college and high school students.

He illustrated horizontal make-up and various headline techniques. Several students were given the opportunity to ask questions pertaining to particular problems in their schools.

Editor of the Maquoketa Newspapers Ed Grady spoke to the group concerning the opportunities and rewards offered in small-town community journalism.

Speaking on "A Big Frog," he pointed out how an editor of a weekly could be a big frog in a little pond and benefit from the four basic advantages—the possible ownership, the diversity, the community respect and the fact that it is a post-graduate course on a college degree.

Following lunch, the Waterloo Typewriter Exchange presented an A. B. Dick mimeograph demonstration, and a panel was held concerning editorial writing. It was moderated by Cy Wainscott, Ashland, Ohio, Times-Gazette.

Jerry Meyer, manager of KWVY, local radio station, presented an address late in the afternoon. This was followed by a tour of the college radio station, KWAR.

Carver's Restaurant was the scene of the evening banquet. About fifty persons attended the smorgasbord dinner.

Featured speaker for the banquet was Dr. Walter Steigleman of the State University of Iowa School of Journalism. He spoke on the power of communication while infiltrating humor into his speech that kept the audience laughing during most of his talk.

He pointed out connotations used in communicating, synonyms and the jargon that man uses in communication today.

Conference-goers attended the musical "Once Upon a Mattress" last night and gathered at the Publications House afterward for refreshments and a chance to view the production of the Trumpet.

Three winners were named for the three separate contests. First-place winner in the editorial writing contest is Linda Morse, Charles City Community School, who wrote on the question of liquor by the drink.

First-place winner in the feature writing contest is Barbara Walker, Charles City; and Dave Hickman, Orange Township, Waterloo, won first place in the news story competition. Both these stories were fictional.

The awards are scholarships of $100, which will apply to tuition at Wartburg. If the first-place winner does not meet Wartburg admissions requirement or does not attend Wartburg, the second-place winner will be eligible.

Bond Issue Receives OK

The last legal hurdle to the construction of the Student Union addition has now been cleared away.

The Board of Regents in a meeting last week approved the bond issue which in effect borrows the necessary money for the construction from the Federal Government.

A bond issue of this sort is one of the things the college can now do because of its incorporated status. The bonds will be sold only to the government.

Convo Change For Next Week

Convocations for next week will feature a program for high school and college students and a religious service.

Tuesday's convo will change places with Wednesday's 11 o'clock classes and will feature the Wartburg Choir and Band.

The program will also include an address by Pres. C. H. Becker and the introduction of the new Student Body President Nelson Meyer, who will then take over as the master of ceremonies.

Convocation Thursday will feature the Rev. Sig G. Sandrock, who is a fifth generation Lutheran pastor from Hustisford, Wis. He received his B.A. from Wartburg in 1940.

He was active as a cheerleader, sang in Dr. Edwin Liemohn's first Wartburg Choir, lettered in football and basketball and was the first president of Wartburg College Luther League.

He was also nominated to Who's Who and Student Senate and graduated from Wartburg Theological Seminary, Dubuque.

Presently holding a mission post in California, Sandrock is teaching the Bethel Bible Series at San Quentin Prision. Using his experiences as a chaplain there, he will talk "On Being a Criminal."

Additions Made To Faculty

Three additions and one replacement to the Wartburg faculty have been announced by Dr. John O. Chellevold, dean of faculty.

Millard Lee, assistant professor of physics, comes to Wartburg from Bemidji State College, Minn., where he also was assistant professor of physics.

HE HOLDS HIS B.A. from Concordia College, Moorehead, Minn., and his M.A. from the University of Nebraska, Lincoln, where he is also a Ph.D. candidate.

John Bentley will be instructor in instrumental music, especially woodwinds and piano. He received his B.S. from the University of Alabama, University, and his M.A. at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

BENTLEY IS A Ph.D. candidate with an arts and humanities major at Peabody College where he is studying under a National Defense Fellowship.

As a performer, Bentley has had considerable experience. He was first oboist in the University of Alabama Symphony. He has also performed with the American Woodwind Symphony, Nashville Symphony Orchestra and in recitals.

He has done private teaching and was a summer replacement at Peabody.

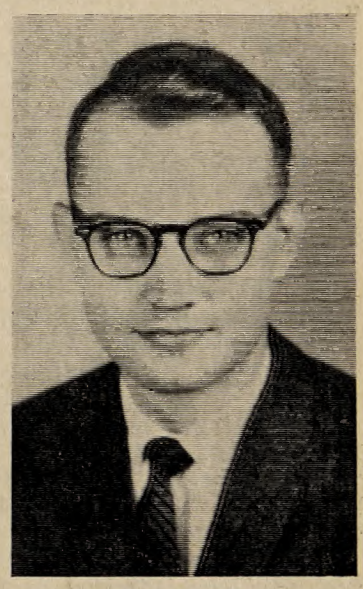
DR. E. YOUNGHANS is the third addition to the faculty. He will be associate professor of education and psychology. Presently, he is assistant superintendent of education for the Central District of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod.

He received his B.A. from Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., his M. A. in psychology from Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, and his Doctor of Education from Indiana University, Bloomington.

He has served as principal, teacher and director of education in churches in Illinois, Maryland and Indiana. He was critic teacher at Concordia Teachers College, River Forest, Ill., from 1944-47.

Younghans also was instructor of psychology and sociology at Baltimore University, 1945-50. He served as visiting professor of education at Concordia Seminary Graduate School in the summer of 1960. He is married.



John Bentley

DR. EUGENE E. Powell, visiting Professor of biology and physiology, will replace Dr. C. L. Turner, who will be research professor of biology at Wartburg and will spend part of his time traveling abroad.

Dr. Powell is presently associate professor of zoology and physiology at the University of Nebraska, where he received his Ph.D. He has served as pre-med advisor since 1947.

His undergraduate work was done at Ohio Wesleyan, Delaware, and he received his M.A. from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

He has published several works such as "Laboratory Guide in Animal Biology," published by the McGraw-Hill Book Company.

Prom Approaches

Plans are nearing completion for this year's Junior-Senior banquet and prom, to be held next Saturday. Theme for the event is "Soir de Paris," or in English, "Evening in Paris."

The evening will begin at 6:30 p.m. with the banquet, to be held in St. Paul's Parish House. Dr. William Schmidt from St. Paul's will give the invocation. Featured speaker will be Dr. Phillip Kildahl of the English Department.

Allen Mardorf and Jim Matthias will play a piano duet. Orv McElfresh will act as master of ceremonies. Nelson Meyer, junior class president, will give the welcome, with senior class president Darryl Ahnemann giving the response.

BOB WHITE will provide music for the dance which will be held in Knights Gym from 9 p.m. to 12 a.m. The gym will be transformed into a miniature Paris.

Decorations will include an Eiffel Tower, Arc de Triumph, sidewalk cafes and a park scene, complete with benches.

The balcony will be furnished with tables to enable couples to watch the dancing in the streets of the gym. Punch will be served in the sidewalk cafes.

TICKETS FOR THE dance are $3. It is open to members of any class and their dates, according to Nelson Meyer.

Committees for the banquet are food, Kathy Waughop; invitations, Margaret Judt; publicity, Gary Bergamo; and decorations, Ruth Ann Ringhand. General chairmen are Alene Aulich and Dick Braun.

Coeds Compete For Title

The Miss Waverly Contest will feature only two Wartburg coeds this year instead of the usual five.

The girls, freshman Jan Friedrichs and sophomore Ronda Ludvigson, will appear along with five contestants chosen from the Waverly-Shell Rock High School in the annual pageant Saturday, May 11, in the Chapel-auditorium, according to Jerry Meyer, KWVY radio announcer in charge of the program.

The contestants will be guests at a dinner in their honor at Carver's Restaurant on the evening of the pageant. The judges will have a chance to become acquainted with the girls at this time, although no official judging will be done at the dinner.

The program will be conducted as it has been in the past. The girls will be judged in three separate events, appearance in evening gowns, appearance in bathing suits and a three minute talent performance.

Jan Wegenast, last year's Miss Waverly, will preside over the pageant until the new queen is crowned. Miss Wegenast, a mid-year graduate of Wartburg, is employed as a teacher at Lincoln School in Waverly.

The new Miss Waverly will be presented with a trophy and a $100 scholarship to the college of her choice. She will also be given an evening gown and will be sponsored by the Waverly Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Miss Iowa contest which will be held in Clear Lake in July.

The high school girls who will be competing for the title are Kathy Carver, Jane Barnard, Sally Jahnke, Mary Burman and Kendra Mueller.

News Conference Slated For Friday

Another presidential news conference will be held by Pres. C. H. Becker Friday at 11 a.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

"Students are again encouraged to raise questions concerning college affairs. Pres. Becker will give candid answers to these questions," said Alumni Director Robert Gremmels.

The idea originally came from the open forum convocation held in February. Gremmels was moderator of this convocation.

Such things as method of regulation change, dancing in the housing units, restrictions placed upon women students, the building program and faculty tenure were touched upon at the first conference.

It is hoped that students will support this conference as well as they did the first. A better relationship between students and administrators can be had as long as there is student interest and support, according to Gremmels.

Schedule Shuffle

Wednesday's 11 a.m. classes will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday of this week, according to Dr. John O. Chellevold, dean of faculty. This is to compensate for the 11 a.m. Convo to be held Wednesday, High School Visitation Day.

Also, all classes meeting after 11:50 a.m. Wednesday will be excused for the day.

Children At Work

Outfly has come and gone — an Outfly that almost wasn't. An Outfly that was marred by the actions of a few students. A few students that haven't grown up yet.

From earliest times children have been taught not to play with fire. Fire is a dangerous thing. Fire nearly always results in tragedy. Fire nearly resulted in a tragedy on Tuesday night.

There are all sorts of ways to have fun. Sometimes fun is even in the form of pranks. It is often enjoyable to do silly things. However, childish things are not funny.

To pull a fire alarm is a childish thing. To pull it late at night is worse. To pull it the day before Outfly is the worst of all.

Fire is a dangerous thing. Firemen are hired to protect people in the face of danger. Firemen called out for foolishness is a foolish deed.

People must pay for foolishness. The women's dorm must pay for fire alarm foolishness. Centennial women must pay 75 to 100 dollars for the funny fire call. Some humor isn't funny.

A fire drill is for safety. A prankish fire drill is for children. Girls out of bed, noise in one's ears, frantic girls running each and every way, the fire siren keeping up with the dorm siren, the Waverly fire engines and police cars with their red lights flashing — it was all such a funny night.

The whole student body was almost punished for the childishness of one or several people. The dorm must pay the financial costs. But has the danger made an impact on their minds?

Mature people don't need to be punished. But mature people were punished — in thoughts anyway. In fact, the women (or children) were given a very bad name for the childish prank of a few.

Such a prank certainly deserves some sort of punishment. Fire is a dangerous thing. It is unfortunate that the whole dorm must be punished. Why don't the guilty confess?

To confess wouldn't be funny anymore. To confess would be humble. To confess would be meeting childishness with maturity. This is a difficult task.

Outfly has come and Outfly has gone. Fire is a dangerous thing. Children shouldn't play with fire.

A Question Of Values

(Editor's note: This is the winning editorial in the contest of the High School Journalism Conference on campus yesterday and today. Miss Morse attends Charles City Community School.)

By Linda Morse

Are the people of Iowa willing to let down the moral, religious and social values, which have governed them until the present administration, to satisfy the thirst of the minority? It is a deep and difficult decision to make, but it must be made — now.

As one of the richest and most literate states, Iowa has long been admired as a fine example of American culture and social value.

It has employed the cooperation of every citizen in reaching and maintaining its fine reputation. Now it is faced with one of the most important decisions a state is called upon to make.

Present members of the state legislature have received correspondence favoring liquor by the drink at a near 20-1 ratio. Does this represent the actual thinking of the average adult Iowan?

Has his thinking become so distorted that he is able to accept something which could change the entire moral standard of the state, or has the voice of the majority remained silent while the minority takes a stronghold?

No, the majority has not been heard! The decent, upstanding citizen has not spoken out in full voice for the morality of his state, and for the reputation which his forefathers worked to retain.

The man who wants his children to grow up in an environment where alcoholism is frowned upon; where obtaining liquor is not as easy as walking up to the counter and asking for it; and where total abstinance is the rule and not the exception — this is the man who must speak out. He must protest the liquor by the drink bill — and he must do it now.

Iowa Liquor Law Satirized

By John Leonard

Friends, Iowans, countrymen, fill full your glass:
I come to praise liquor, not to bury it.
The evils of man shall indeed remain:
The good is often cast at the wayside;
So it is with liquor. The noble (Iowa Council of Churches) has told you of the evils of demon rum:
If it is so, it is a grievous fault,
And grievously has liquor answered it.
Here, under leave of the Council and the rest,
For the Council is of honorable men;
So are they all, all honorable men.
Come I to speak at Jack Daniel's funeral.

He was my friend, faithful and just to me:
But the Council says it is of the devil;
And the Council is of honorable men.
Jack hath brought many revenue home to Des Moines
Whose profits did the general coffers fill:
Did this in Jack seem evil?
When the thirsty have cried, Jack had quenched.
Evil should be made of sterner stuff:
Yet the council says he was evil:
And the Council is of honorable men.

His desire was to be a small supplement to our lives, not to dominate us.
He does not wish to be our "god," but to be there to add to our pleasure, unnoticed.
Yet the Council says he was evil;
And, sure, the Council is of honorable men.
I speak not to disprove the Council's words,
But I am here to speak what I do know.
You can enjoy liquor, with due moderation.
Why then do you condemn liquor by the drink and condone the state liquor store.
Oh honesty! you have fled to be forgotten,
And men have lost their reason. Bear with me;
My heart is weakened by hypocrisy and blindness;
And I must pause while it comes back to me.

★ ★ ★ ★

The Council has proclaimed that Iowa shall be dry;
And yet Iowa (pop. 2,757,537) consumed more liquor than Wisconsin (pop. 3,951,777)
One traveler remarked, "Iowa is the wettest dry state in the Union."
The Council has proclaimed that the present method of dispensing liquor creates less drunkeness and alcoholism than liquor by the drink.
Yet I wonder how many people coming from dance halls are capable of driving.
The Iowa Council of Churches took the stand of NO to liquor by the drink.
I say they are hypocrites — save the Episcopal Church,
Who said that it was also wrong for the state of Iowa to be in the liquor business. They are to be congratulated for being the only member of the Council to be completely honest with themselves.

(Note: the Iowa Council of Churches is composed of most, but not all, Protestant Churches)
I wonder if the Council is aware of what is happening as a result of key clubs and river towns selling liquor by the drink.
The law is there, and is broken openly.
City officials are bribed and look the other way.
The attitude is "Laws were made to be broken."
This is hardly a desirable attitude that is given to the youth of this state.
It is true that people should respect the law, but how can you ask people to respect the law if it does not respect them?

(Editor's Note — This is a letter submitted by a Wartburg student concerning an issue presently before the Iowa legislature.)

Future Radio Broadcast Tells New Outfly Policy

By Mike Sherer

Rumor (as usual) has it that in future years the faculty may be given the responsibility for calling Ausflug. Such a turn of events could witness the coming forth of such a radio newscast as this one (KWAR, evening of April 28, 1964) . . .

★ ★ ★ ★

" . . . Heading up the news from the Wartburg campus tonight is this item: Outfly came to Wartburg suddenly and unexpectedly today as regularly scheduled Tuesday classes were cancelled until tomorrow and students were given a day of freedom from academic chores.

Sherer

"Under a new policy initiated just this semester the calling of Outfly is now the responsibility of members of the faculty of the college. In keeping with this new ruling the faculty voted secretly last week to designate today as Outfly.

"Information concerning the exact date on which Outfly was to be called is considered to have been onc of the best-kept secrets on campus this year.

"It was concealed so well that a handful of faculty members forgetfully attended their regular classes and compiled rather lengthy lists of unexcused absences. Most of them administered unannounced quizzes.

"The student body at large was greeted with news of the decision between six and seven this morning as faculty members poured onto campus from all directions and made the rounds to the various housing units. The Waverly Fire Department was conspicuously absent.

"The basic procedure followed was for the professors to congregate before each housing unit and to shout in unison, 'You Want Outfly, You Want Outfly!' Consideration was reportedly given to the possibility of their shouting 'We Want Outfly'; however, there seemed to be few among the faculty to be found who shared this sentiment.

'We have now come to the point at which it has become advisable for us to set aside a portion of the academic term for a general recess of classroom activities. Rather obviously the idea does not hold much water among those of us given to thinking in academic terms. But, well, now the cat comes out of the bag. An almost unbelievable number of students — and I use that term advisedly — have created a great variety of pressures calculated to bring about the turn of events we are now witnessing. See?'

"Former West-German Chancellor Conrad Adenauer, who has been scheduled to speak in convocation this morning, was forced to pass the college by in his one-week tour of the U.S., due to the cancellation of today's classes.

"An unfortunate downpour which flooded the campus with nine inches of water descended on Waverly about 7:30 a.m. and lasted most of the day. Students blame faculty members for failing to have discovered the telephone weather service at the State Bank of Waverly.

"In a moment, the weather . . . "

Diamondmen Lose First

Wartburg split with Dubuque last week in a league twin-bill on the Spartan diamond for the first loss of the season for the Knights. The win gave Wartburg a 5-1 season record and a 3-1 record in league play.

Pitcher Dave Langrock lost the first game 7-1, but the Knights came back on Leon Carley's one-hitter to win the second contest 6-0.

Langrock gave up five runs in the second inning of the first game to give the Spartans a lead they never relinquished. Gary Medlang took over the pitcher's mound in the fifth and gave up the final two runs late in the sixth.

In the second game Carley pitched his second one-hitter in two starts for a 3-0 record in season play. The Knights had seven hits in the second game, including two home runs.

Catcher Al Exner opened the scoring for the Knights in the fourth with a home run over the centerfield fence. Langrock slammed another homer over centerfield in the sixth to open the first big scoring inning of the year for the Knights.

Ray Bye followed with a single to centerfield, stole second, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on an error by the Spartan third baseman.

Bob Matthias, Knight leftfielder, scored the fourth run on a hit by Exner, who was later forced out at second on a single by shortstop Roger Kittleson. Second baseman Bill Fulcher drove Kittleson home on a single for the fifth and final run of the inning.

Carley has pitched 20 consecutive scoreless innings in three starts this season.

Wartburg diamondmen will host Central today in the most critical game to date. The Knights need a double victory to be in position to challenge league leading Buena Vista a week from today. Central is currently 2-2 in loop play and Buena Vista is 4-0.

On May 1 the Oppiemen will host a strong State College of Iowa team in a single contest. They will travel to Buena Vista for the double header with the Beavers next Saturday.

BILL FULCHER, reserve second-baseman squares around to bunt one in practice. The Knights currently have a 5-1 season record.

Several Harriers At Relays Today

Several of the best members of the Wartburg track squad will participate in the Drake Relays being held today at Des Moines.

Wartburg's fine duo of high jumpers, Len Schmidt and Joel Niemann, and javelin thrower Bob Wachholz, along with the mile relay team, will represent the Knights. Both Schmidt and Wachholz are current Knight record holders in their specialities.

The cindermen defeated Loras in a dual meet at Dubuque Thursday by a 76-55 score. In chalking up the win Wartburg had eight winners.

In addition the Knights also took the mile relay.

Next Tuesday Platteville State College of Wisconsin will host the Knights in a dual meet. Platteville, a team that has defeated the Knights the past two seasons, boasts another strong team this year.

On Senior Day, May 1, the cindermen will entertain Upper Iowa and Cornell in a triangular meet at Schield Stadium. The meet will begin at 2 p.m.

Upper Iowa has some good individuals but lacks overall depth. According to track coach Dave Olson, Cornell is a "very fine contender, one of the best in the Midwestern Conference."

Oddly enough, both the Knights and Cornell boast strength in the same events. Cornell has a good high jumper in Mike Creighton and is also strong in the hurdles and distance events.

Next Saturday the Knights will participate in the Viking Olympics at Rock Island, Ill. Last year Wartburg finished fourth in this all-Lutheran college meet.

At the State College of Iowa Relays, April 20, Len Schmidt upped his school record in the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 2½ inches.

Win Streak For Golfers

The Wartburg golfers extended their winning streak to three straight this past week with victories over Dubuque and SCI.

The winning margin in last Saturday's victory over Dubuque was 9½-5½, although Dubuque's Hodge was medalist for the match with a 74. Milt Marschall was the linksters' medalist with 76.

In Tuesday's match at Gates Park in Waterloo, the Knights defeated the Panthers by a 10½-4½ score. Again, the losing squad won medalist honors with a 74 by George Beebe, as Milt Marschall was medalist for Wartburg with a 75.

The golfers lost to Simpson in a four way meet at Des Moines Thursday by a 9-3 score. Despite this fact Knight junior Milt Marschall was medalist for the meet with a 74.

Netsters Face Spartans Today

The tennis squad takes on quite a vigorous schedule this week, beginning with Dubuque today at Waverly, followed by SCI at Waverly on Wednesday.

Coach Jasper's doubles team of Jerome Shinkey and Doug Langholz took second place in last Saturday's Iowa Conference Doubles Championship at Pella.

They were defeated in the finals by Luther's doubles team 13-11. The second team of Jack Wendt and Dennis Brown was eliminated in the third round of the double elimination tournament.

Tourney Begins In IM Softball

Two games were played in the softball tournament last Tuesday in the season intramural opener. Cotta downed Clinton III & Basement 9-0, and Clinton I defeated Grossmann II 14-11 in a nine inning hitting contest.

Next Monday Grossmann III will meet Grossmann I & Basement and Married Men will play Clinton I. On Tuesday Cotta will play Off-campus, and Vollmer and North Hall will meet Clinton II.

Games to be played on Thursday will be posted in the Student Union on Thursday morning.

Roger Pagel had both the high game and the high series for the boys in the second round of the coed bowling tournament, held last Saturday. He rolled a 187 for high game and then a 161 for a total pinfall of 348 for the high series.

Gwen Parlin rolled a 134 for the girls' high game. In the second game she totaled 133 for a combined score of 267 and the high series.

Bowling League Standings

Larry Croghan	5	1
Jim Schneider	4	2
Ralph Otto	2	4

Norse Lead Contest May Retain Axe Again

By Doug Goke

With the school year drawing to a close, it is interesting to note that with two events left with Luther, track and golf, Wartburg is behind in total points for the coveted axe.

Luther won football, wrestling, tennis and cross-country for a total of 250 points while Wartburg has won both of the basketball games and both of the baseball games for a total of 200 points.

Norsemen from Luther have held possession of the axe for the last three years.

Luther is picked as one of the top teams in the conference in both track and golf, so it would seem that Wartburg again will have to play second best and allow the axe to remain at Luther.

A new batch of records have been set in physical fittness tests given to Wartburg freshman women.

About 100 girls participated in the events and all but 3 or 4 girls showed improvement since last fall when they took the same tests.

The girls competed in the same events which they did last fall and under the same conditions, so the 95% plus improvement looks quite impressive.

According to Miss Mista, the exceptionally good results could have been in part due to the girls taking part in the planned program set up by the Canadian Royal Air Force.

The record holders included:

Bent Arm Hang: Barbara Slygh 86.7 seconds

Two min sit-ups: Lois Reyelts 69 sit-ups

Shuttle Run: Amy Kuehl and Laurel Woods 9.7 seconds

Softball Throw: Mary Kloth 171 ft.

The two that still stand from last fall include the Standing Broad Jump by Pat Platte at 7 ft. 10 in. and 50 yd. dash by Sharan Lehr in 6.7 sec.

REVIEWER SAYS

"Bravo's" Given For Musical

By Verle Reinicke

An emphatic Bravo is the only way of saying what the audience expressed with its applause when the final curtain fell on the opening performance of "Once Upon a Mattress" in the Chapel-auditorium here last night. It was an evening of hilarious entertainment.

The two-act musical adaptation of "The Princess and the Pea" by Hans Christian Andersen was set to music by Mary Rogers, daughter of Richard Rogers.

THE PERFORMANCE was given jointly by the Castle Singers and the Wartburg Theatre. The musical, which was directed by John Gill with musical direction by Dr. James Fritschel, will be given again this evening beginning at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

Briefly, the story concerns the plight of a small distant kingdom, which is having trouble finding a princess for its young Prince Dauntless, William Plieseis.

Many have come and have failed the tests given them, until Princess Winnifred, Nancy Ihle, appears ,having been discovered by Sir Harry, Ray Jorgensen.

The domineering Queen Aggravain, Rita Johnson, and the Wizard, Al Sandau, devise a very special test for this princess, who, in their eyes, is most unconventional and not even a princess.

THEY MAKE HER very tired with an evening of special entertainment. Then they put her to bed on top of 20 mattresses, at the bottom of which is placed a pea. If she is a true princess, she will not be able to get to sleep.

Needless to say, the princess does not sleep at all that night, much to the surprise and dismay of the Queen, who does not realize that she has been tricked. Prince Dauntless gets a wife, and once again the kingdom is happy and normal.

FROM THE FIRST time she set foot on the stage as the dripping-wet princess who has just swum the moat to her final "snore" on top of the mattresses in the finale, she was a constant source of rollicking humor.

Her ability to mold herself into the character she was portraying was extremely well-done. She performed with the seeming ease and nonchalance of a professional actress, and this very ease was a source of enjoyment and humor in itself.

SHE SAID very little, but sent the audience into rolls of laughter by the myriad of bodily contortions she went through in an attempt to get to sleep.

William Plieseis must be commended for his role in that he "fit the part to a 'T'." Prince Dauntless was meant to be a young and innocent but playful prince, wanting to find out what life was all about, and it was just such a prince that was presented to the audience.

Rita Johnson performed very well showing up the Queen for the domineering "stinker" that she was. Ron Kuehl, as her husband, did an excellent job of pantomiming and was delightfully humorous wtith his never-ending "girl-chasing."

Janice Friedrichs and Ray Jorgensen, portraying the two lovers, effectively carried out their roles as two lovers who fight and break up but then come back together again because their love is too great.

Al Sandau, the lonely wizard who is duped by everyone; David Dix, the Minstrel; and Orv McElfresh, the Jester—all three are to be greatly commended for their fine performances.

THERE IS A danger, however, in using too many superlatives. At times the orchestera was louder than the singers, and the transition between some scenes was rather awkward.

Even so, generally speaking, the performance was a resounding success.

To the entire group, I say, in the words of the musical, "Bravo! Bravo! Bravissimo!!"

PRINCE DAUNTLESS, played by freshman Bill Plieseis, kisses Princess Winnifred, played by junior Nancy Ihle in a scene from last night's musical, "Once Upon a Mattress." Final performance will be tonight at 8.

Miss Johnson will be accompanied by Carolyn Wulff, sopho more.

for a job superbly well-done, and I urge all who were not in attendance at last night's performance to make it a point to attend tonight. The curtain rises at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

HS Visitors Here Wed.

Wartburg will host over three hundred high school students Wednesday for High School Visitation Day, according to Director of Admissions Fred Thompson.

Registration for the day will be held from 8 to 11 a.m. in the Chapel-auditorium. The hour convocation, scheduled to begin at 11 a.m., is for both high school and college students, according to Thompson.

A music recital, a track meet with Upper Iowa, a baseball game with SCI and the musical, "Once Upon a Mattress," to be presented from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., are among events planned for the day.

Hamer Honored

The award, a copy of the latest edition of the Handbook of Chemistry and Physics, was given in behalf of the Chemical Rubber Company, Cleveland, Ohio.

Given each year to a student having the best record in the beginning course in college physics, the award is valued at $12.

Debate Contest Set For Convo

Convocation for Tuesday, May 7, will feature a college bowl contest between four students from Simpson College, Indianola, and four students from Wartburg.

This will be the second meeting of these two teams.

Wartburg traveled to Simpson on Feb. 19. Although the team was very well received at that time, it did not come out on top.

It might be added that Simpson has been doing this intramurally on its campus for the last two years.

According to Fred Dierks, quiz-bowl co-ordinator, each school will submit an equal portion of the questions to be used and each school will have its own score keeper.

Phil Truckenbrod, a junior, has been chosen as next year's co-ordinator for both intercollegiate and intramural competion.

No Parents Day

The Parents' Observance Days, scheduled for May 3 and 4, will not be held this spring, according to Pres. C. H. Becker. A letter has been sent to the parents informing them that the days will not be held. Plans are underway for the fall Parents' Day.

Registrar Announces Job Lists Available

Students seeking employment, either permanent or temporary summer work, can find information concerning these jobs in various offices on campus.

Miss Mattie Harms, college registrar, says she receives various notices of job openings for positions in other fields besides teaching. Much of this information is referred to department heads in the specific fields concerned.

Social work majors may contact Mrs. Lola Reppert, Social Work Department, for information about jobs in the field. Dr. Elmer Hertel and Dr. A. W. Swensen should be consulted about openings in the fields of science, and business students may see James Moniz or Melvin Kramer, according to Miss Harms.

Notices of summer job opportunities are posted on a bulletin board outside the registrar's office. These positions offer YWCA, YMCA and Scout camp work (counseling, water safety, general recreation, etc.).

Church camp positions are also available. Information about these jobs can be found in the dean of students' office or the college chaplain's office.

Auditions Scheduled

Wartburg's three music organizations will hold spring auditions next week. Students now on campus who are interested in membership for next year will audition now to alleviate the fall auditions.
